I called the Chief over in Kelso, WA and he said they don't have any riot gear either. You guys should get a paintball gun and some pepper balls that you could use as non lethal crowd control. Those pepper balls are no joke and will disperse people quick.

No way. Get some rest. Me and John will figure out alternative ways to keep tabs on them. Maddy doesn't know but I put an IR flashing strobe on the hood of her sweatshirt and can track her phone. If you get any calls of creepy guys in a black Range Rover it's me and John. Lol. And I think we are all set for Vegas!

Are you going to give me a break and take a deep breath and let Shane go on this trip Friday? I'd offer you a year of free golf but that might be bribery. If you let him go that's going to help the overall cause.

I don't plan on telling him unless I am instructed to by City Mgr and Attorney.
If you look at the statute 2-2-104. We will have to show that he didn't do his job because of the things G has done for him. Preponderance would be sufficient. By PIST Arm's he cannot accept gifts. Need to take our time and not fuck this up. Thanks for having confidence in Bridger and me.

It just dawned on me if you spill the beans to Shane before the hunting trip he won't go. For what it's worth I'd slow roll it a bit and not do anything to spook him before the trip. If you are just trying to unscrew Shane and not send the grim reaper for him I have an idea. It's just how I would handle him and of course my opinion means nothing in this scenario because it's your world and I'm just living in it. It really comes down to what you guys want to do for an end result.

Let me know a good time for you tomorrow I usually work until 3 on city council day which it is tomorrow, and then go home and crash for a while before I have to go back for the city council meeting at 7. So late morning or early afternoon would be the best for me

I'm against Labor Day that's why I'm putting the sheeting on my garage today. Why don't bridge and I come over to your place tomorrow I'd like both him and me to be there and we can discuss it and look at your timeline. I'm going 2 work for another couple hours and then I'mma sit down and drink several cold beers.

Hey Bill- it just dawned on me but I wanted to tell you that I didn't mention a single thing about what's going on to Clint. In fact, we didn't discuss any work stuff at all so he was probably standing there while we were talking wondering what the hell we were talking about. I'm super tight lipped with anything going on at your PD.

We had a great time with you too sir. Ray is a riot to be around and his quiet and humble way has always been a huge asset to me. There's a ton about that guy that I've never spoken to you about but I think we are probably at the point where you and I need to talk privately. There's much afoot and they are things that I want you read in on but had to make sure the time was right to do so. A couple of the items we need to discuss are issues that me, Ray and John are working hard to insulate you from any splash back as things are moving forward.

Our pleasure Bill! We had a great time too and I was glad you and the wife could spend some time around my family and Tony's. Send the resume to: mmarshall@amyntorgroup.com

I will pay special attention to the PGA golf pro section and notate that I witnessed you shoot a 36 last night. I won't mention that it was by the 6th hole.

Sounds good on the golfing for Sunday. Heather is in Missoula today so I will make sure I don't have any pressing commitments but as of right now count me in.

Hey good morning thanks again for last night we had a great time. And thanks again for dinner. I don't think I have your email address so if you could text it to me so I can send you my resume Joann is going to update it this weekend and put a few lies in it. The one part where it's States that I was a world champion in mixed martial arts is a little bit of an exaggeration I was just United States champion. The other part where it states that I was a PGA golf pro was made up to I'm sure you didn't know that Remember he was a Marine . Question for you. Where were you about 0645 this morning. We had a black vehicle stop on Spokane and 3rd and a "person" exited, took off their dress, was confronted by a man who was sitting on his front porch, the person then turned around and the witness "saw" the person was a dude. Dude reached in his black vehicle put on a different dress and departed. Can you account for your whereabouts?

And me and my wife were just talking. Don't ever feel like you have to apologize. Your wife didn't make an ass out of herself according to how we view the world. If you can't be yourself around your friends, then you need different friends. Heather thought your wife was wonderful and believe me, my wife and booze don't generally mix well either. I want to be surrounded by people who are just genuine, humble and loyal to their friends. You guys are always welcome here and hopefully we can have some more food and cornhole when you guys get back from your trip. Let me know if you need anything while you are gone!

Thanks I was very embarrassed, not for me but for her. She's got some health issues and really shouldn't drink very much. She's a great person and very smart and I hate to see her make an ass of herself. Probably because I see it so much in my job and I love and respect her so much. Hope we get invited back. Keep me posted on your ventures next week. Thanks for the understanding.

Bill, you don't need to ever apologize to me. For a single fucking thing. You're wife having too much fun here and getting liquored up is a compliment to me that she's comfortable with us. My wife has been plenty drunk at times and that's just part of having people around you that give a fuck and you can trust. We had a great time and am thankful you guys came to spend time with us. You've been a true friend to me and I will never forget that.
